

In Their Footsteps

Trilogy: Three Amazing Lives; Three Amazing Stories

Lewis and Clark National Historical Park, Fort Clatsop is pleased to announce the next installment of its In Their Footsteps free speakers series. This program is Trilogy: Three Amazing Lives; Three Amazing Stories by Gloria R. Linkey on Sunday, January 17, at 1:00 p.m. in the Netul River Room of the Fort Clatsop visitor center.

Gloria Linkey is from Seaside, Oregon and is the secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Northwest Living Historians, a board member of the Knappton Cove Heritage Area, and past president of the Seaside Museum and Historical Society. She loves history, and living and working within walking distance of The Salt Works has inspired Gloria to research and develop several presentations about the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

Trilogy: Three Amazing Lives; Three Amazing Stories introduces the audience to three historical women that Gloria has come to admire. These three well-travelled American Indian women were contemporary to each other and were courageously involved in major episodes of Pacific Northwest history about 200 years ago. The first is the now-popular Sacagawea. The other two are less famous: Wetxuiss and Marie Dorion. All three had crucial roles in this region's history. Come learn about these three amazing lives.

This third Sunday forum is sponsored by the Lewis and Clark National Park Association and the National Park Service. These programs are held in the Netul River Room of Fort Clatsop's visitor center and are free of charge. Come and enjoy this free event during Fort Clatsop's Christmas Open House.
